Re:
Incomplete Patent Application

Dear Sirs,

I had filed a patent officially on 11/17/2003, and it was notified to me that the application was considered incomplete for the reasons that it did not contain certain items, including an oath or declaration and a claim and specification. Here in this document are the missing items needed to successfully complete the patent application, which is being applied for as a utility patent, and it is requested that the application be serviced by the patent office. The title of the invention was to the effect of: "Magnetic Bottle System for Plasma Containment."

Sincerely,

Leonard Gojer
